Change to ITD Form 3522

11-12-2019

Please be aware that a recent modification to ITD form 3522 (Certificate of Idaho Residency – revised 11/19) allows for a signer attesting to the applicant's residence to not have to reside at the same address as the applicant. The attesting signer, however, should still be an Idaho resident.

Please note the revised language at the top of the form explains this:

"A second resident or property owner at the described residential address, if applicable, otherwise an individual known to the applicant, must attest to the applicant's residency through a signature below."

Additionally, the attester's signature line has been changed to clarify this allowance:

Signature of Individual Attesting to Applicant's Residence
Attester's Driver's License or Identification Card No.
